

The M.Ed. in Educational Leadership

The Master's in educational leadership program prepares school leaders to translate authentic research on school leadership and society into quality practice. The program aims to reveal new understandings related to education and society, advocate for inclusive, equitable and safe learning environments, and connect those who study educational leadership with practitioners and policy makers. Two separate concentration tracks are offered: Administration & Supervision and Leadership Studies.

Our Mission for Excellence, Innovation and Community Impact

As members of a university in an urban area, we have a responsibility to serve the communities around us. This is especially true here at VCU, where so many underserved and disadvantaged are within our reach. Every day, our city, its schools and its students face unique challenges. But where there are obstacles, there are opportunities:

A CHANCE FOR CHANGE.

A CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE...

Why choose Educational Leadership at VCU?

The VCU School of Education combines innovative teaching with real-world learning experiences, drawing on the resources of our culturally rich and diverse urban environment. Our research and development focuses on critical education issues, contributing to our fields of study. Graduates leave fully prepared for 21st century careers as leaders in schools, universities, and other educational settings.

Administration and Supervision Concentration

The administration and supervision concentration of the M.Ed. in educational leadership is a 33-credit-hour program that prepares individuals to fill positions as reflective leaders for schools. Applicants must possess an active five-year renewable educator license and are expected to have at least two years of experience in a school setting in an instructional personnel position that requires licensure in Virginia. An end-of-program assessment is required. Individuals must meet Educational technology standards, Emergency First Aid, CPR, and AED training standards approved by the Virginia Board of Education, and they must supply proof of child abuse recognition and intervention training. Individuals who successfully complete the program are eligible for endorsement as an administrator/supervisor K-12.

Leadership Studies Concentration

The leadership studies concentration of the M.Ed. in educational leadership is a 30-credit-hour program for individuals who hold or expect to hold leadership positions in educational organizations but who do not wish to obtain the administration/supervision endorsement from the Virginia Department of Education. Applicants are expected to have at least two years of experience in an educational setting. The program includes 15 hours of credit in required courses and 15 hours in a concentrated series of electives chosen with approval of the student's adviser.
